ng in the application of Thomas A. Edison for a receiver for the Edison United Phonograph Company, on the ground that the Company is insolvent, was begun before Vice-Chancellor Van Fleet this morning. The petition of Mr.

Fleet this morning. The petition of Mr. Edison states that the United Phonograph Company, which controls the foreign patents and business of selling the phonographs, will not sell the phonographs abroad, but leases them for $50 a year. The Company, he says, declines to push the business.

An examination of the Company's books, the petitioner states, shows the total receipts of the Edison United Phonograph Company since the incorporation of the company has been $314,-$19.56, and the actual assets at present are only $5,22.10.

The doubtful assets are $500,000, and the merchandise $25,000. The expenses of the Company in the last year have been $170,512, and the income $30.209. The current expenses, according to Mr. Edison, shows that the Company owed on Dec. 31, 1893, 1100,232, and since that date $6,538 has been borrowed to carry on the business. In conclusion, Mr. Edison alleges the business is held by bankers, who use it as a scheme for speculation.
